Wimbledon 2013: The Official Story of The Championships Neil Harman

This much-loved annual tells the complete story of the 2013 Championships, bringing the world's greatest tennis tournament to life and providing fans with a lasting souvenir of what will be another memorable fortnight in south west London.

Wimbledon always provides an array of great stories both on and off the court. From the brilliance of Federer, the Williams sisters, Murray, Sharapova and Djokovic, through to the upsets caused by often unheard of players, and the controversial moments and news stories that inevitably come to pass each year, the annual will capture all the moments and images that will make The Championships 2013 so special.

Written by The Times' award-winning tennis correspondent, Neil Harman, and put together by a team based at Wimbledon for the duration of The Championships, Wimbledon 2013 will provide exclusive insider access to the tournament with interviews and analysis, opinion and quotes from the stars of the show. It will also be packed with glorious and evocative photography by Wimbledon's team of award-winning snappers, perfectly recording the drama and atmosphere of those two stunning weeks when the world turns its attention to the green grass of the All England Club.
