Addressing critical real world issues for insurance lawyers, litigators and corporate practitioners, Interpretation of Insurance Contracts is your up-to-the-minute guide to practice in this burgeoning field. Nationally-known insurance law expert Jeffrey Stempel focuses on policy language - zeroing in on the finer points that can make or break your case - and provides detailed guidance to help you handle such specific problem areas as:

- * Defining "total loss" to determine policy limits
- * Applicability of valued policy laws to dwellings other than traditional single family homes
- * Employment disputes, with particular reference to the intentional act exclusion
- * Negligent delivery of professional services
- * Professionals acting in nonprofessional capacities
- * Regulatory estoppel and its effect on the "sudden and accidental" pollution exclusion
- * Allocation of coverage
- * Trigger of coverage
- * D&O special apportionment issues
- * Coverage for environmental claims
- * Bad faith litigation
- * The duty to settle and defend
- * Fraud and excess insurance availability
